Article-draft integration

Articles and drafts on the same topic are related, we need to make sure that the UI enforces such relationship. Otherwise, a manual effort would led to inconsistencies and duplication of work.

An article is created by publishing a draft

A ← publish d

A — Users accessing the article will no get info about the draft.

d — Users accessing the draft will be infromed that the article exist, and the draft content will be shown as disabled (not able to edit).

An user tries to create an article for which a draft exists

A ---- d

A — Users accessing the "create page" view will be informed that a draft exists, and encouraged to improve on it instead of creating it from scratch.

d — If the article is created from scratch, users accessing the draft will be informed that the article exists, and they will be encouraged to merge the relevant draft contents.

An user tries to create a draft for which an article exists

A ---- d
d — Users are not allowed to create drafts for existing articles.

Prosopagnosia

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Prosopagnosia (Greek: "prosopon" = "face", "agnosia" = "not knowing"), also called face blindness, is a disorder of face perception where the ability to recognize faces is impaired, while other aspects of visual processing (e.g., object discrimination) and intellectual functioning (e.g., decision making) remain intact.
